

INTERNATIONAL PHOTOGRAPHY COMPETITION 2016: Objectif Sport, 1st March to 1st May, all day

In the context of European and International sporting events of the year 2016, the “Fondation Alliance Française” is organizing the 6th edition of the photo contest illustrating the theme of sport “Objectif Sport!”

Candidates are invited to present works illustrating a sport which, in their opinion, best portrays the sporting activity of their country. Thus, through the lens of photography, the participants will convey essential values in this activity: tolerance, openness, social inclusion and team cohesion.

FRENCH FILM: Tomboy, 11th May at 6:30 pm

Céline Sciamma – 2010 – Drama – 82 minutes

Laure, 10 years old, is definitely a tomboy. She and her family have just moved into a new neighborhood. Although the little girl longs to make friends her age, she isn't quite certain how to go about it. Then, one day, she meets Lisa, and the two girls get hit off. However, when Lisa makes the assumption that her new friend is a boy, Laure takes the identity of Mikael, and quietly plays along. Before long, Mikael has made friends with the other children in the neighbourhood as well. Meanwhile, the closer Lisa and Mikael become, the more delicate Laure's deception grows.

Tomboy has received several prizes including a Golden Duke and the main prize of the official competition of the 2011 Odessa International Film Festival. Zoe Héran, the lead actress, was also nominated for the Young Artist Award as Best Leading Young Performer in an International Feature Film.
